

Environmental Health Workshop

with

Dr George Carlo

Sunday 6th January 2013

10.00 - 16.00 hrs

OPEN CLINIC

The Friars, Aylesford is a working Priory and dates back many centuries.

The location is known to Dr Carlo and his last Open Clinic took place in 2008. The Friars is close to Maidstone, Kent and is located on a large estate with accommodation, a restaurant and car park. The location is served by the A20 and M20, (J3 off the M25) and Maidstone Station offers a one hour service into London. There is overnight accommodation available on a B&B basis.

The Sunday event is an 'open clinic' for those suffering from the range of environmental illnesses including electro hypersensitivity, multiple chemical sensitivities and Autism. Dr George Carlo will explain 'what goes wrong' when illnesses develop following exposure to physical, chemical and biological agents, and more on 'what goes right', when those who are exposed avoid illness, functional impairment and debilitation. Data make clear that constructive adaptive responses are driven by epigenetic mechanisms facilitated by energetic constructs that impact the structure of cell membranes and subsequent cellular function.

In our laboratory work, we have developed science-based protocols that specifically address each of the key foundational components for long-term health, wellness and a happy, prosperous life'.
